KULETO 2017 'EL COYOTE' CABERNET SAUVIGNON. NAPA VALLEY

Wine lots and barrels selected for our 'El Coyote' Cabernet Sauvignon don't necessarily come from a particular spot on the estate (à la Vineyard Designate), but rather share common flavor and structural attributes that highlight the dark, meaty, rich, black fruit aspects of the variety. To further highlight these characters, we often co-ferment with varieties that share these same qualities. You'll notice that there is a small percentage of Syrah in our 2017 vintage. This is the result of one piece of the final blend that captured the best synergy of the two varieties. The 2017 'El Coyote' Cabernet is about all things dark and powerful in a red wine. Aromas of blueberries intermingle with oak and smoked ham to fill the nose. The aromas carry through to the palate, filling every corner of your mouth, leaving a smoky after taste. This is a big, powerful and chewy Cabernet.

KULETO 2017 PINOT NOIR, NAPA VALLEY

Over the years, we've learned to treat our Pinot Noir like we think one should. That is, to not pick it too ripe despite the warmer growing conditions, and to try and capture the best aroma we can without worrying about color. The grapes were destemmed into a small open-top fermenter and fermented cool to avoid harsh tannin pickup. Punch-downs were kept to a minimum and pressed wine was not included for the same reason. Our 2016 Pinot Noir fills your nose with aromas of ripe plum and cinnamon complemented by violet and black cherry flavors. Soft, round tannins and a delectably juicy finish that make this wine pair with just about anything you love to eat.
